Eleanor J. Sullivan, R.N., Ph.D.

Eleanor J. Sullivan has been dean and professor of the School of Nursing at the University of Kansas Medical Center, Kansas City, Kansas since 1988. Prior appointments include associate dean of the School of Nursing at the University of Minnesota and assistant dean at the University of Missouri-St. Louis. She has held other positions as a clinical nurse in psychiatric nursing prior to her academic appointments. Dr. Sullivan's research is in alcohol and drug dependency, especially among nurses. She has authored numerous articles on this topic and is the senior author of the first book on the subject, "Chemical Dependency in Nursing." Also, she is the senior author of "Effective Management in Nursing", the leading management textbook used in schools of nursing, and the author of a recently released book for top level nursing administrators. Dr. Sullivan is a member of a number of editorial and review boards and has been a grants reviewer for the Division of Nursing and the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA). In 1991, Dr. Sullivan was appointed by Secretary Luis Sullivan to the National Advisory Council of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, the first nurse to be appointed to this prestigious Council. Locally, she is a member of the governing board of the Midwest Bioethics Center in Kansas City, a member of the advisory committee on nursing for the Kansas City Area Hospital Association and serves on the Kansas Governor's Planning Council on Mental Health, to name a few of her current community service appointments. Dr. Sullivan received her first nursing degree from St. Louis Community College, her baccalaureate in nursing from St. Louis University, her masters from Southern Illinois University and her Ph.D. from St. Louis University.
